Hixburg

Hixburg, March 8.- On Sunday, February 28, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carson, adult counsellors of the Youth Fellowship of the Walker's Presbyterian Church at Hixburg, entertained the members with a midday venison dinner, at the Carson home.

After the dinner there was a business meeting, and choir rehearsal. Those who attended were Carol and Gayle Webb, Ryland, George and Betty Taylor, Mary Frances, Kathy, Margaret, Marjorie, Barbara, Kenneth, Lester an d Marshall Goin; and Bradley Baldwin. Other guests were Dr. Twyman Williams, and Dr. Edward W6olridge.

Mrs. Charlie Williams played safe on Wednesday afternoon. She accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Carson, of Prospect to be their house guest. A 12-inch snow made the road to Mrs. Williams' home impassable for several days.

Two Hixburgers made the February Honor Roll at Appomattox H. S. They were Anne Martin, who is in Grade 12, with Mrs. Carrie Gilbert as Home Room teacher, and Mary Frances Goin, in Mrs. McClenny's 11th grade Home Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Harwood, Jr., of Appomattox had Miss Carrie Hix as house guest from Monday until Wednesday.

Mrs. Boyd Ford, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Guilford, in Ocala, Florida, plans to leave Florida for Fredericksburg, Va., next Saturday, March 12. She will stay with her daughter, Mrs. F. E. McCauley.

On Friday morning, a fire completely demolished Mrs. C. E. Franklin's home. She was living with her two sons near Hollywood Church.

They lost everything except a few porch chairs. The building carried a small insurance policy.

Mrs. Franklin is the mother of Mrs. Joe Goin.

Ryland and George Taylor, sons of Mr. Jim Taylor, left on Sunday evening, Feb. 28, to obtain work in Richmond.

Miss Maggie Hix is still in Southside Community Hospital, and is ill. Recent callers on her were Miss Kitty Watkins, of Farmville; Mrs. Crote Carson, of Richmond; the Rev. Leslie Hart, of Pamplin, and Dr. Twyman Williams, of Appomattox.

In FASHION now

Perhaps the most extravagant waste of money a woman can indulge in is a cheap fur coat. Not only will it look sorry for its first wearing, but it will soon look much worse and fail to provide sufficient warmth.

It is possible to purchase a good cloth coat for the price of a cheap fur coat. Don't make the mistake of trying to get more for your money than it is possible to do.

If you have a moderate amount of money to invest in a fur coat, choose a coat made of a fine quality of a moderately priced fur. The best buy in fur seems to be muskrat. It is warm, long-wearing, and quite beautiful.

The workmanship of any fur coat accounts for the variation in prices found in the same quality of furs. A let-out muskrat coat will cost about one-hundred dollars more than a seamed coat. The added beauty may or may not be worth the extra money to you.

The most admired fur, excluding a few such as chinchilla, sable and ermine, which are out of reach to most of us, is mink. Here again, the best advise is — if you can afford only a cheap mink—buy a good muskrat.

The best policy when buying a fur coat is to purchase it from a reliable dealer. The furs should be pliable and have a high-natural-looking luster. The guard hairs (these are the long, silky hairs lying on the surface) should be numerous and healthy looking.

CARE IN STORING GUNS, AMMUNITION URGED

With the end of the general hunting season January 30, all hunting except "varmint shooting" is at a standstill—a good time to inspect and store guns for safekeeping.

Pointing out that off-season gun accidents are frequent, Virginia Game Commission Executive Director Chester Phelps urged that guns be locked in closets or other secure places away from children, and that ammunition be stored in another place which also can be locked.

"Firearms should never be stored in unlocked closets, auto glove compartments, drawers, garages or other locations where curious children can find them," Phelps stressed. "Of course, youngsters must be taught that guns are lethal weapons and not playthings, but adults can remove firearms hazards in homes only by removing sources of temptation."

Take your time deciding on your fur coat. You are spending more money for it than any other single piece of clothing you own and you will probably wear it for a long time.

Narrow Escape

Ragusa, Sicily.- A circus lion escaped recently and spread panic as it ran growling through the crowded streets of this Sicilian town.

The lion finally ran into a house occupied by an old woman and a 2-year-old baby. Fear-stricken residents waited helplessly outside for half an hour while circus officials with nets and pistols were called.

When they entered the house they found the lion sound asleep. The woman and the baby were unharmed.

All guns should be thoroughly inspected before storage each year to prevent accidental discharges of weapons that supposely were unloaded.

Sunk!

Jacksonville, Florida.- Whoever stole that 16-foot aluminu m canoe from the front yard of Mrs. Ralph Y. Smith had better watch out. She says it has a hole in the bottom patched with a piece of adhesive tape.

The Brotherhood will meet Saturday night, March 12, and the Rev. J. Leslie Hart, pastor of the Elon Baptist Church, will be the guest speaker. It is urgent that all men be present, that we might make Cottage Prayer Meeting assignments, and work out transportation schedules for the School of Missions for March 27, to April 1.

The ladies of our church are observing the Week of Prayer for Home Missions, with Mrs. W. E. Jamerson as General Chairman for the week. Those leading prayer meetings are: Mrs. Laurence Gillum, Mrs. B. H. Marshall, Mrs. W. E. Jamerson, Mrs. J. B. Whitehead, and Mrs. W. M. Abbitt. Those leading meditations are Mrs. James Stevens, Mrs. A. R. Harwood, Jr., Mrs. W. E. Jamerson, and Mrs. W. W. Scott.

Our total church will be called together for Prayer and Consecration Service March 23, in behalf of the School of Missions, and twelve Cottage Prayer Meetings will be held March 25. Dr. Baker James Cauthen will be the guest minister at the 11:00 A. M. service March 27.

Memorial Methodist Activities

Beginning promptly at 7:15 o'clock Monday evening, March 14th with Worship Service led by Rev. Clayle K. Kelly, of Concord, the Appomattox Area Christian Workers Training School will be held in the Memorial Methodist Church.

The General Course on the Bible, Study of the Gospel of Luke, being taught by Dr. Bernard C. Rosell, Professor of Religion and Philosophy, of Pfieffer College, Misenheimer, N. C., is for all adults, and persons from other denominations in the community.

The Course for the Workers with Youth, taught by Mrs. H. K. Gibbons, of Harrisonburg, will be especially beneficial. Mrs. Gibbons has had wide experience in working with young people. She is connected with the Wesley Foundation work at Madison College, and is most active in her own church and district. Her course will be on Understanding Youth.

The Workers with Nursey, Kindergarten, Primary and Junior Children will be greatly helped from the instruction given by Mrs. J. N. Swaltney, of Hopewell. She will teach the course on the subject, Helping Children Grow in Christian Character. Parents as well as teachers are urged to attend this class.

Persons of other denominations are invited to attend any or all of these courses, which will be a general Christian education content, and will furnish much inspiration and information for all church workers.

A Church Conference will be held at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning in the Church Sanctuary, following a brief message by the minister. All members of Memorial over 18 years of age are entitled to vote on the important consideration to be presented to the Conference.

Each Wednesday from 3:15 to 4:15 in the afternoon, the pastor is conducting a class in Church Membership for Children and Intermediates. Parents are asked to encourage their children who desire to unite with the Church at Easter to attend these sessions.

REVIVAL POSTPONED

The revival services for March 13-19, at the Bible Baptist Church have been postponed until a later date, which will be announced later.
